

Professional Development, fully funded.

With the National College of Education.

The National College of Education is delighted to announce an exciting new partnership with two leading organisations. In collaboration with the School Library Association and OTSA, the NCE is part of a new initiative to bring Reading to the forefront of professional learning in schools. Through two new fully funded programmes for Librarians, Support staff and Teachers.

Do you want to join us?

Future Leaders: Leading Libraries for their Future

- 12-month programme
- Team Leader Apprenticeship qualification
- Eligibility: anyone currently working in, leading or aspiring to lead a school library.
- Support provided by a Professional Learning Mentor
- Five enrichment sessions from Alison Tarrant, CEO of the School Library Association (SLA), covering all elements of school libraries - from engagement to research skills.
- Membership to the SLA for the duration of the programme
- Find out more www.nationaleducation.college/portal/sla

Education Management: Building a Reading School

- 19-month programme
- Departmental/Operations Manager Apprenticeship qualification
- Eligibility: learners will be Eng/Literacy Coordinators or leading reading within a school
- Support provided by a Professional Learning Mentor
- Six enrichment sessions from Reading Intervention Specialist and national literacy expert, Alice Visser.
- Membership to the School Library Association for 12 months
- Find out more <http://www.nationaleducation.college/portal/reading>

Both programmes have limited places, early booking recommended.

To secure your place, book a call with the NCE Team using this link or the QR code.

For multiple places, please contact Gareth Alcott, gareth.alcott@nationaleducation.college

